

Global Community of Knowledge and Practice for a Sustainable Cocoa

The Cocoa & Forest Program: Knowledge Exchange led by Alisos and Kinomé, with the support of the World Bank, promoted the creation of a global community of knowledge and practice for sustainable cocoa. In the midst of the pandemic the Knowledge Program facilitated an ongoing dialogue between key actors of the cocoa value chain in six countries from Africa and Latin America: Colombia, Peru, Brazil, Dominican Republic, Ghana and Ivory Coast. In 2021, for the first time most producing countries were able to share experiences and lessons learnt.

Future Opportunities:

Science and innovative knowledge exchange strategies.

Voices of producing countries in the co-creation processes.

Address issues such as living income for farmers, deforestation, resilience to global events, traceability, entrepreneurship skills.

Road Map 2022 - 2024

We are committed to keep building a global community of knowledge and practice for sustainable cocoa, where stakeholders around the cocoa value chain can participate and share lessons, innovations and new agreements that promote and implement sustainable cocoa practices.

8 countries of Africa and Latin America (with the addition of Vietnam and Indonesia)

90 entities (with the addition of pharmaceutical and nutraceutical industries)

6 global discussions on the main topics: customization of the farm, living income and ethical leadership.
